ABOUT ME

Ericka Clay is a traditionally published novelist and poet formerly represented by Robyn Russell. She graduated from the University of Arkansas Creative Writing department and is the author of Unkept and Dear Hearts. She's recently published her latest books, A Violent Hope and Between You and Me, through her literary imprint, Believable Books. She also writes a weekly blog and newsletter.

Her latest novel, A Bird Alone, is due to be completed Summer of 2023.

Ericka has been awarded several times by Writers Digest for various short fiction pieces. She has written four novels (one of which placed as a quarter-finalist in the 2010 Amazon Breakthrough Novel Award contest) and has had the privilege of sharing her craft, teaching writing classes and holding writing workshops in the South Texas area.

Ericka lives in Northwest Arkansas with her husband, daughter, one dog (RIP Roxie) and an insatiable need to push buttons, both figuratively and literally.

Believable Books is a publishing imprint that strives to write and publish raw, real, relatable books that have a heart for Jesus. Ericka created it in 2020 and has produced two titles through it with one in the works. Her imprint seeks to bridge the gap between the secular and religious within the Christian literary market.

A VIOLENT HOPE

A NOVEL

Mack Reynolds is battling his demons. After years spent attempting to heal wounds from being abused as a child, he confronts the author of his nightmares—his uncle—leading to a catastrophic decision and permanently sealing his fate.

As the reality of Mack's decision unfolds, his wife and daughter live life in a dark void, falling into addictions and assessing their pain through ways that only force them farther apart. It's not until Mack's mother, Rochelle, can confront her past, her questionable living arrangement with her husband and his mistress, and the bitter hurt that's metastasized inside of her that Natalie and Wren can receive the guidance they both desperately need. But is it too late?

Told through the lives of the three women touched by Mack's struggle, A Violent Hope takes a deeper look into the human heart and the God who repeatedly heals all wounds.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

ESSAYS & POETRY

Between You and Me is a compilation of poetry and essays once posted on Instagram by Ericka Clay. Ericka brings you bits of her heart as she meditates on “cultural Christianity,” raising an ADHD child, dealing with body dysmorphia, being a former atheist, and working through her roles as mother, wife, and writer all while seeking the goodness of God.
